

CASE STUDY

Austen Paths, Stevenage

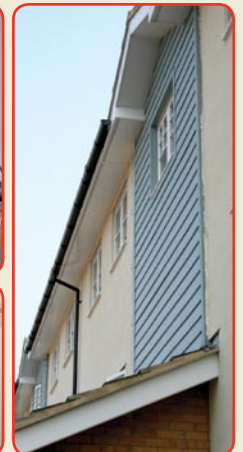

Client: GDG Housing Ltd
Sector: Supply & Fix Joinery Packages
Budget: £450,000
Duration: 36 weeks

Project specifications:

This project comprised the new build of 24nr flats in Stevenage. M J Hillson Limited undertook the internal and external joinery works, along with the roofing works. The Roof comprised of the main timber structure with hips, valleys and dormers. In addition there were low level porches with Velux windows. Externally 50% of the building was clad in an Eternit weather board, blue grey in colour with window trims. The balcony soffits were clad in master board and painted. M J Hillson Limited supplied and fitted the windows and patio doors. The internal works included painted ply doors with Victorian scroll chrome ironmongery. The floating floor consisted of insulation and versa panel. The kitchens were from the George Moores range which were Jazz Pear and Apple, with eco bins and a lockable cupboard.

Conclusions:

A comprehensive contract that saw M J Hillson Limited working both internally and externally on the two buildings concurrently. The Eternit cladding was a challenge, which was met and successfully completed. The roofing works again bought M J Hillson Limited's expertise in this area to the fore.

“The work was completed in a good standard. MJH produced a high quality of workmanship in a tight programme. The site team were easy to deal with and knowledgeable. We will not hesitate to send out tenders for future works.”

Steve Knight, GDG Construction Site Manager
